

Press Release

The Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University honors 11 notable entrepreneurs for volunteer service excellence

Evanston, IL, September 17, 2010: On September 15, 2010, the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University honored 11 Chicagoland entrepreneurs for 10 years or more of volunteer service to the Larry & Carol Levy Institute for Entrepreneurial Practice. Each year, the Levy Institute invites accomplished entrepreneurs into the classroom for students to learn essential entrepreneurship practices from top-rising executives. The honorees served as case competition judges, lectured students about current issues in entrepreneurship and provided experiential learning opportunities through internships and student projects. The Levy Institute recognized the following leaders at the seventh annual Notable Speakers Recognition Dinner :

- Mike Adhikari, founder, Illinois Corporate Investments, Inc
- Venita Fields, Kellogg School Class of 1988, senior portfolio manager and partner, Smith Whiley & Company, lecturer, Kellogg School of Management
- Scott Glickson, partner, McGuire Woods
- Doug Grimsted, founder, Aginity LLC
- Dan Howell, senior managing director, Mesirow Private Equity
- Jack Kraft, principal, Kraft Investments
- William Lear, managing director, The Chicago Corporation; lecturer, Kellogg School of Management
- Stanley Pillman, founder, Addison Asset Management

For Immediate Release

- Alfred Sharp, principal, Muller & Monroe Asset Management, and lecturer, Kellogg School of Management
- Michael Silverman, Kellogg School Class of 1992, founder, Duo Consulting
- Art Roldan, founder, SecurePipe Inc.

Established in 2003 through an endowment by Larry and Carol Levy, the institute is responsible for shaping and managing the entrepreneurship curriculum at the Kellogg School as it relates to applied teaching, conferences, case studies, a speaker series and internship programs.

For more information about the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University, visit <http://www.kellogg.northwestern.edu>.

Contact:

Brenda McDaniel

b-mcdaniel@kellogg.northwestern.edu

Phone (847) 491-3255

Fax (847) 491-5632

Twitter @KelloggENTR

<http://tinyurl.com/FacebookKelloggENTR>